

Post-Doctoral Fellowship in Geriatrics and Behavioral Health The Peter Lamy Center on Drug Therapy and Aging, Pharmaceutical Health Services Research

Location: University of Maryland School of Pharmacy, Baltimore, MD

Description: Post-doctoral fellowships are available starting January 1, 2017 at the University of Maryland, Baltimore, School of Pharmacy in the Peter Lamy Center on Drug Therapy and Aging. The fellowship will provide multidisciplinary, advanced training and experience in pharmaceutical health services research to prepare fellows for positions in academia, government, and/or consulting industries.

To be considered, prospective Fellows must have experience in pharmaceutical health services research focusing on mental health, substance use disorders, and/or comorbidity in older adults. Training includes, but is not limited to, mentored research, grant-writing, and teaching experiences; it also may include coursework in epidemiology, pharmacoeconomics, and methods. This position involves working closely with researchers and clinicians affiliated with the Lamy Center.

Fellows receive a competitive salary and benefits.

Qualifications: Experience in geriatrics and/or mental health and substance use disorders is required. Excellent communication, organizational, and time-management skills are a must. Those with a clinical degree (PharmD, BSN, or MD) with public health or policy research training and/or a PhD in a health-related discipline are strongly encouraged to apply. Strong quantitative skills are necessary for this position, as is a collaborative spirit to work with students and colleagues across disciplines.

How to Apply: Applicants should submit a letter of interest, curriculum vita, writing sample, and three letters of recommendation. Review of applications will start immediately. Finalist interviews will take place on-site in Baltimore following telephone screening interviews.

The University of Maryland is an equal opportunity employer.
